*"Our family auto service center business has learned first-hand the significance of a good relationship with a community lender such as Illini & United Community Bank.

Matt Seman with Illini Bank and now UCB helped our family business expand when national lenders wouldn't. Today, Matt remains our commercial lender and our relationship goes beyond business. Staying with a lender based in our community is so important, especially when that local lender takes it upon themselves to help you reach your goals. That is how we operate our business. When a customer comes in with a problem with their car, we make their problem our problem to solve.

It is our family's name on the door and the sign out front. Honesty, integrity, competence, and personal responsibility are the cornerstones of our family business. We strongly feel that defines our bank- Illini & UCB as well, and we look forward to many more years with UCB, our preferred bank."
